*To a high school student, 100 years seems a long time.
It is, of course; yet there are people living in and around Oneonta who were alive when the first class graduated from OHS.
It depends on your vantage point,
whether a century appears to be endless, or 1869 "like yesterday."*

*There's nothing magic about one hundred years, but it is natural to look back from this eminence at the changes that have taken place.
What kind of subjects did they study
a hundred years ago?
Did they go to school in the summer?
Did the boys have beards and long hair?
Were all the girls prim and lady-like?
What did the classrooms look like?
Were there any sports?
How many were in that first graduating class?*

*The one-hundred-year mark has to be a time for looking ahead, for speculating about the future, too.
Think of the body of knowledge from the dawn of recorded history, up to the year 1750.
In 150 years, by 1900, it had doubled.
By 1950—50 years' time—
knowledge had once more doubled.
And in only ten years, from 1950 to 1960,
the body of known facts
had doubled once more.
An increase like this is almost beyond our comprehension and schools have to keep pace somehow.*

*What will the highschool student—if there is a discernible counterpart in 2069—look like, dress like, study?
Where will he go to school?
Or will he go to school at all?
Will he look back on the past with the same amused tolerance we do?
Will he be more or less a human being?
Will he look at the pictures in this OHSan and wish to be "back there" or sigh with relief that he isn't?*

Mr. Charles A. Belden

*This year's senior class is the one hundredth class to graduate from Oneonta Senior High School.
From the time the school opened in 1868 until now, the educational program has been ever changing.
The high school has evolved from a small building to our modern building of today, from a faculty of four to one of sixty, from a handful of students to the 850
the school now serves.
From past to present, the school has changed to fit an advancing society with more complex needs, but the seniors who graduate in 1969 have the same hopes and aspirations of a successful future as did the seniors in 1869.*

*Our educational facilities offer something for everyone.
The mathematics department aims at increasing student reasoning power, while music and art classes broaden cultural appreciation.
Biology, chemistry, and physics prepare students for rewarding careers, while home economics benefits future homemakers.
English and speech classes promote effective communication and history lessons give insight into world affairs.
Gym classes provide an opportunity to use special abilities and acquire new skills.
Foreign languages not only develop verbal skills but create concern for foreign peoples.*

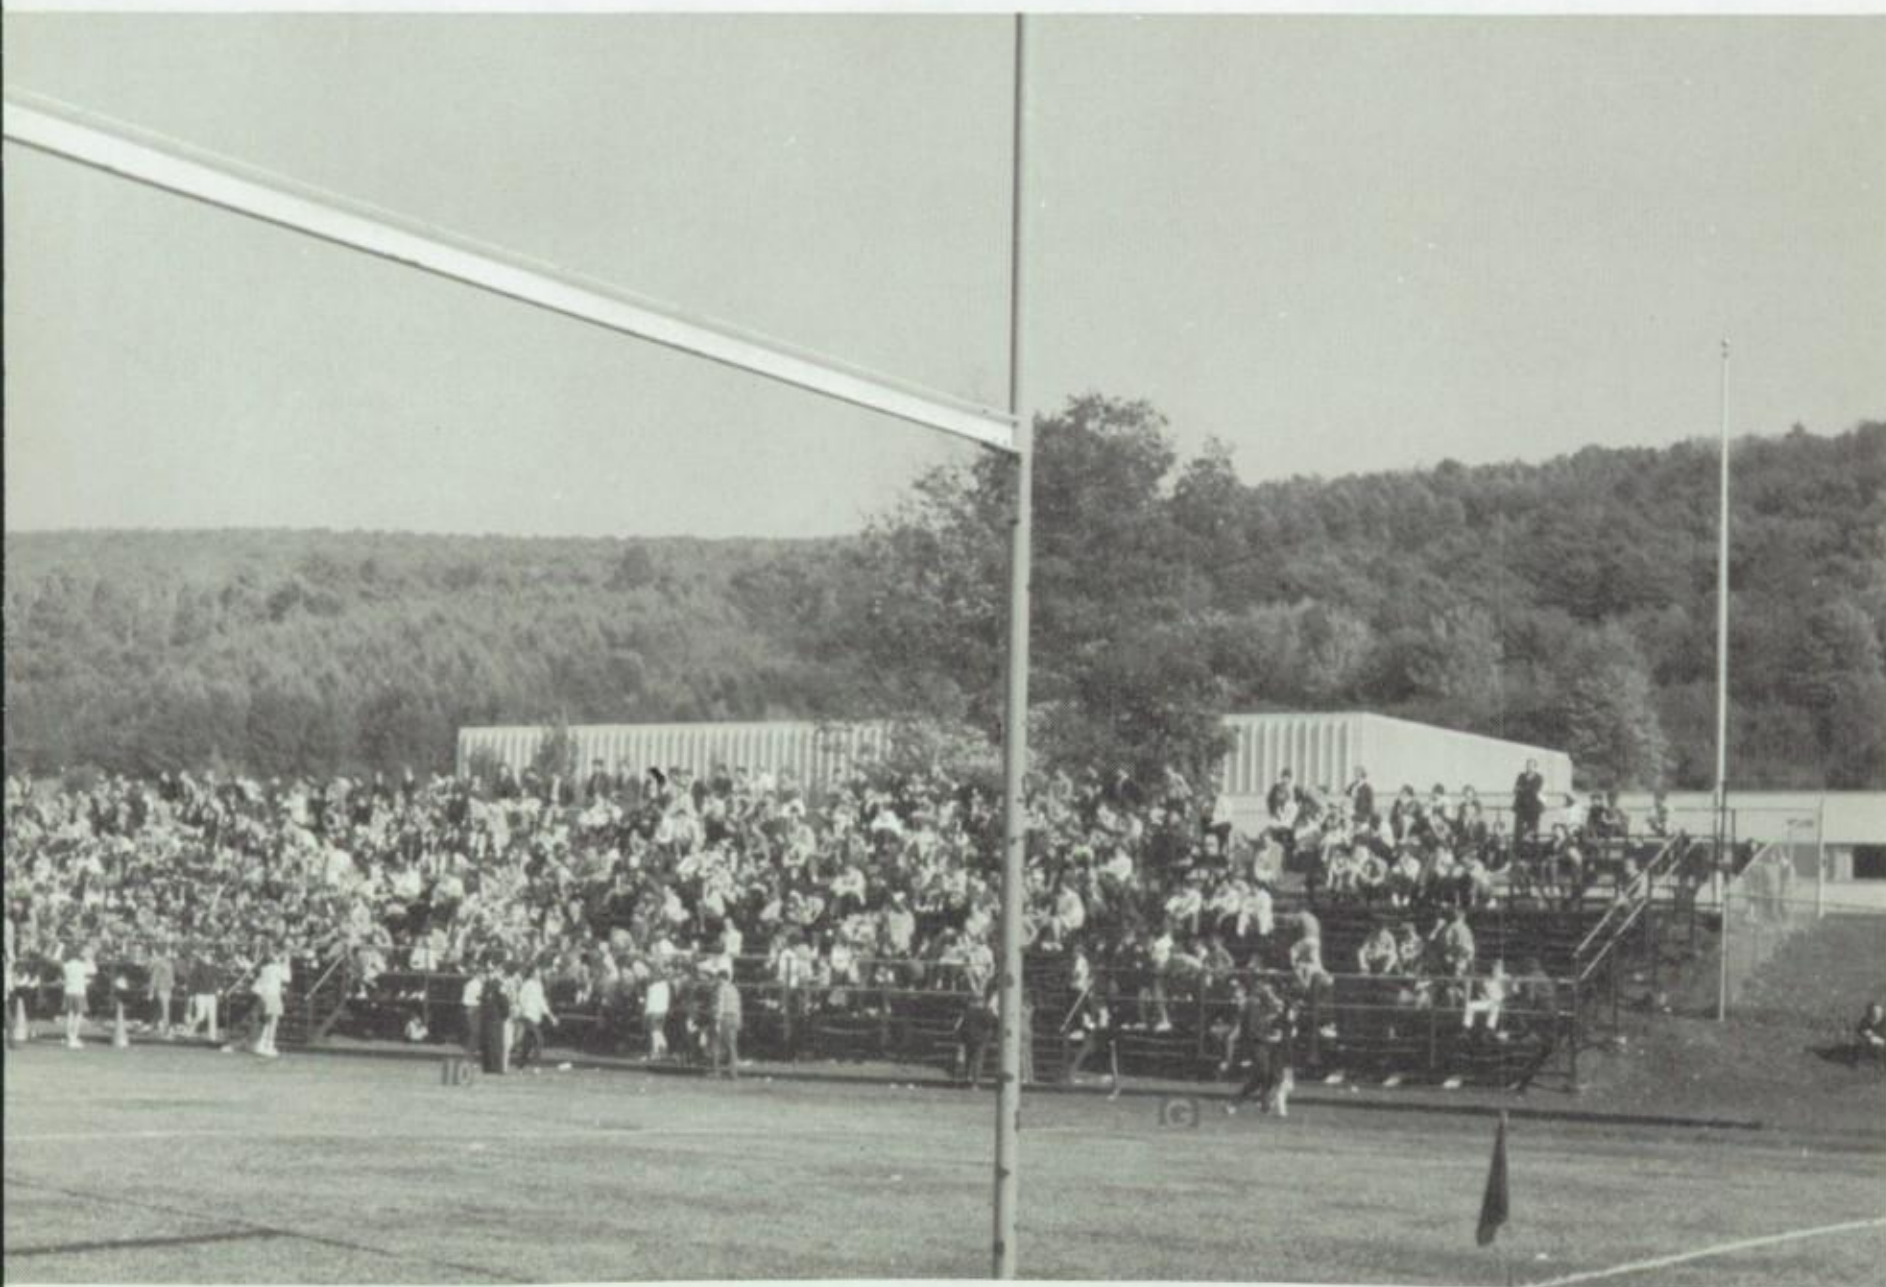

Our cultural education includes knowledge gained through contact with fellow students. To this purpose students participated in a variety of library programs, assemblies, and dramatic presentations. Foreign exchange students worked together during National Brotherhood Week to present a colorful library program. Each student took an active part by dancing, singing, or speaking. Another special assembly was the interclass track meet. Spectators cheered their classmates on in the bright sun of almost-summer. The dramatics club began their year's activities with the performance of "Stop the World" and concluded by switching roles with faculty members in the presentation of "The Odd Couple".

*The blue and gold
sportsmen and fans feel the red excitement of autumn:
the referee's bright flag,
the tasty candy apples,
the intense football action, surrounded by brilliant hills.
The white crispness of winter brings with it the swoosh of badminton birdies,
the crunch of popcorn,
the basketball player's white warm-up suits.
The freshness of spring brings green grass to the baseball diamond and life to the trees around the tennis courts.
Through the changing seasons
march the competitors dedicated to uphold
the blue and gold.*

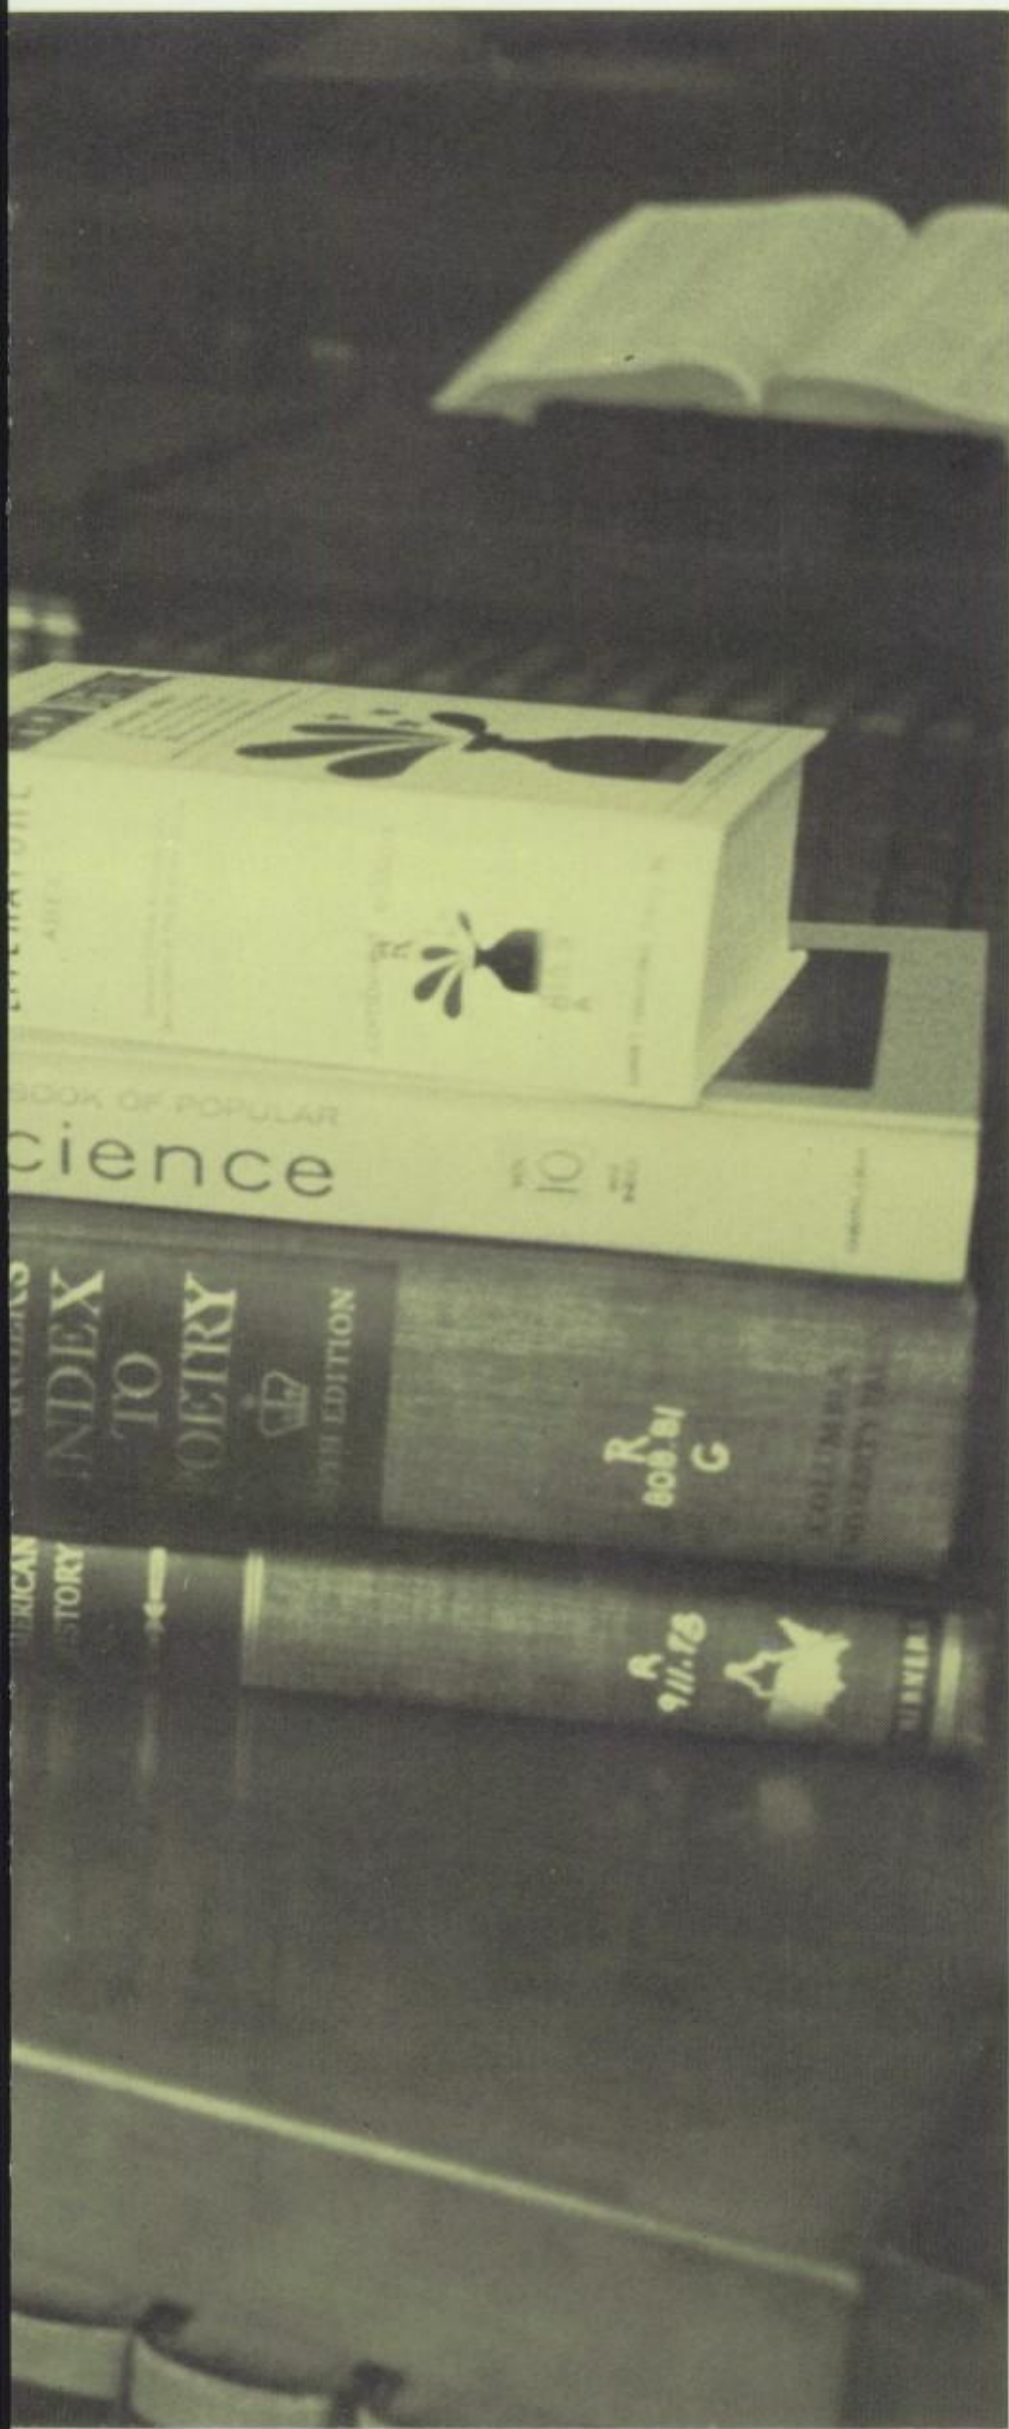

"Another Opening, Another Show" rang out as the curtain opened on the first scene of Cole Porter's "Kiss Me, Kate." The varsity choir practiced for weeks to perfect the many songs and dances throughout the play and the dramatics club provided the stage and make-up crews which were a vital part of the presentation. The performance of "Kiss Me, Kate" initiated new ideas in school productions. For the first time the choir experimented with dual roles with nearly all the principals playing both modern and Elizabethan characters. Scenes from "Taming of the Shrew" added a Shakespearean touch to the performance and a variety of colorful costumes. The extensive amount of choreography was a new experience for the choir. Each member of the cast danced in one scene or another. A select combo, replacing the traditional full orchestra, accompanied the choir with "progressive jazz" music.

Seniors Finance Activities With Top Magazine Sales

The 246 seniors were active in making this year one they would never forget. In the fall, the seniors spent two weeks selling magazines to earn money for class activities. The profit was $2,600, topping all previous sales. As a result, seniors enjoyed lavish celebrations in June at their picnic, ball and banquet.

After applying to colleges at the beginning of the year, they spent anxious months awaiting replies. Several seniors were lucky enough to win Regents and local scholarships.

Seniors set aside a week in March devoted to distinguishing themselves from the rest of the school. They taught classes, dressed up, and generally advertised the fact that they were seniors. These activities made it a memorable senior year.

Board uses federal funds, meets major setbacks

Federal funds from Title I ESEA have enabled the school system to provide special reading assistance for elementary and junior high school students as well as an elementary guidance counseling program which is coordinated with that at the secondary level.

With the completion of the new girls' locker room and the smoke doors and partitions at the Junior High School, the Board of Education turned its attention to the financial problems facing most of the smaller city school districts in the state. In spite of curtailments which had to be made, the schools offered a balanced program this year.

Handicapped by a constitutional tax limitation and unsuccessful referendum to increase it, the school district has been seeking other sources of revenue for the operation of the schools and maintenance of the program in subsequent years.

Mr. Robert C. White
Superintendent of Schools

BOARD OF EDUCATION—Mr. Robert C. White, superintendent of schools, Mr. John K. Dunn, School district attorney, Mr. Thomas E. Hickey, Mrs. Harriet VanWoert, Mr. Gabriel Harris, vice-president, Mr.

Ani P. Colone, president, Dr. John R. Leahy, Dr. Carey Brush, Mr. Roger G. Hughes, Mr. Edward S. Onody, assistant for business, Mr. Henning T. Martin.

Mr. Belden encourages awareness, participation

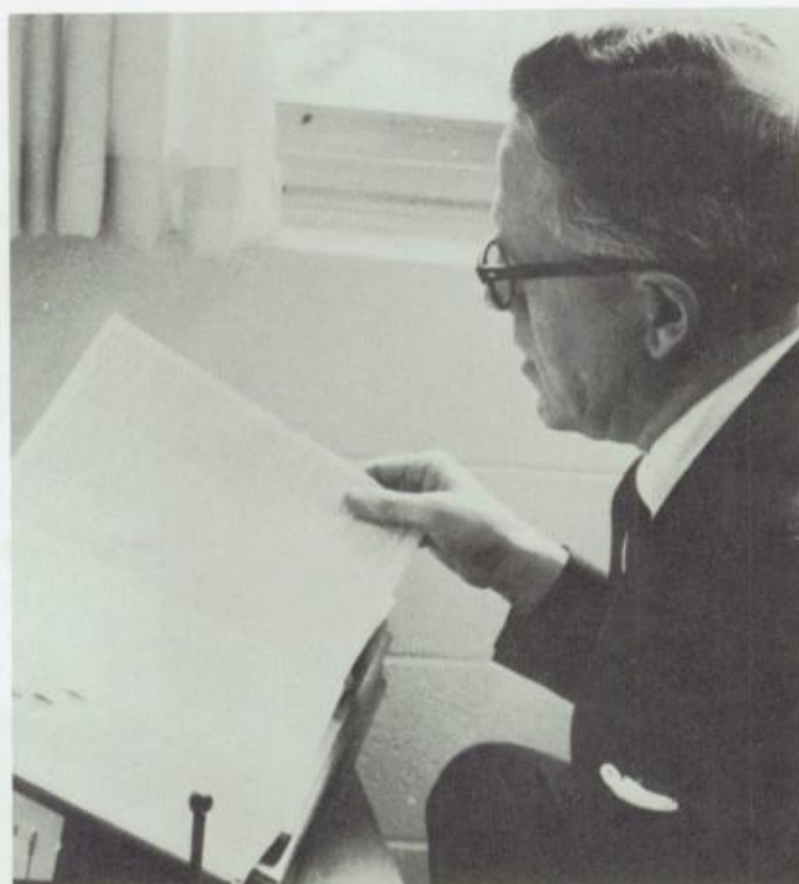

The past five years have been a period of adjustment for Mr. Charles Belden, his staff, and students. Looking towards the future, Mr. Belden hopes to see OHS evolve into an institution possessing an atmosphere of individuality and student awareness.

This atmosphere of concern should develop through Mr. Belden's belief that a high school education is a cooperative affair, between teacher and student, in which the student develops into a self-propelled individual.

To further student-teacher relationships, Mr. Belden encourages students to become involved in school activities and to help make administrative decisions.

Students in Mr. Houck's Math 11 class learn correct procedure for solving two variables in a complex equation.

For his geometry class, Doug Dailey demonstrates the use of the distance formula in solving for the area of a rectangle.

Selecting a compass from the instrument board, Marilyn Zagata begins the formation of a geometric construction.

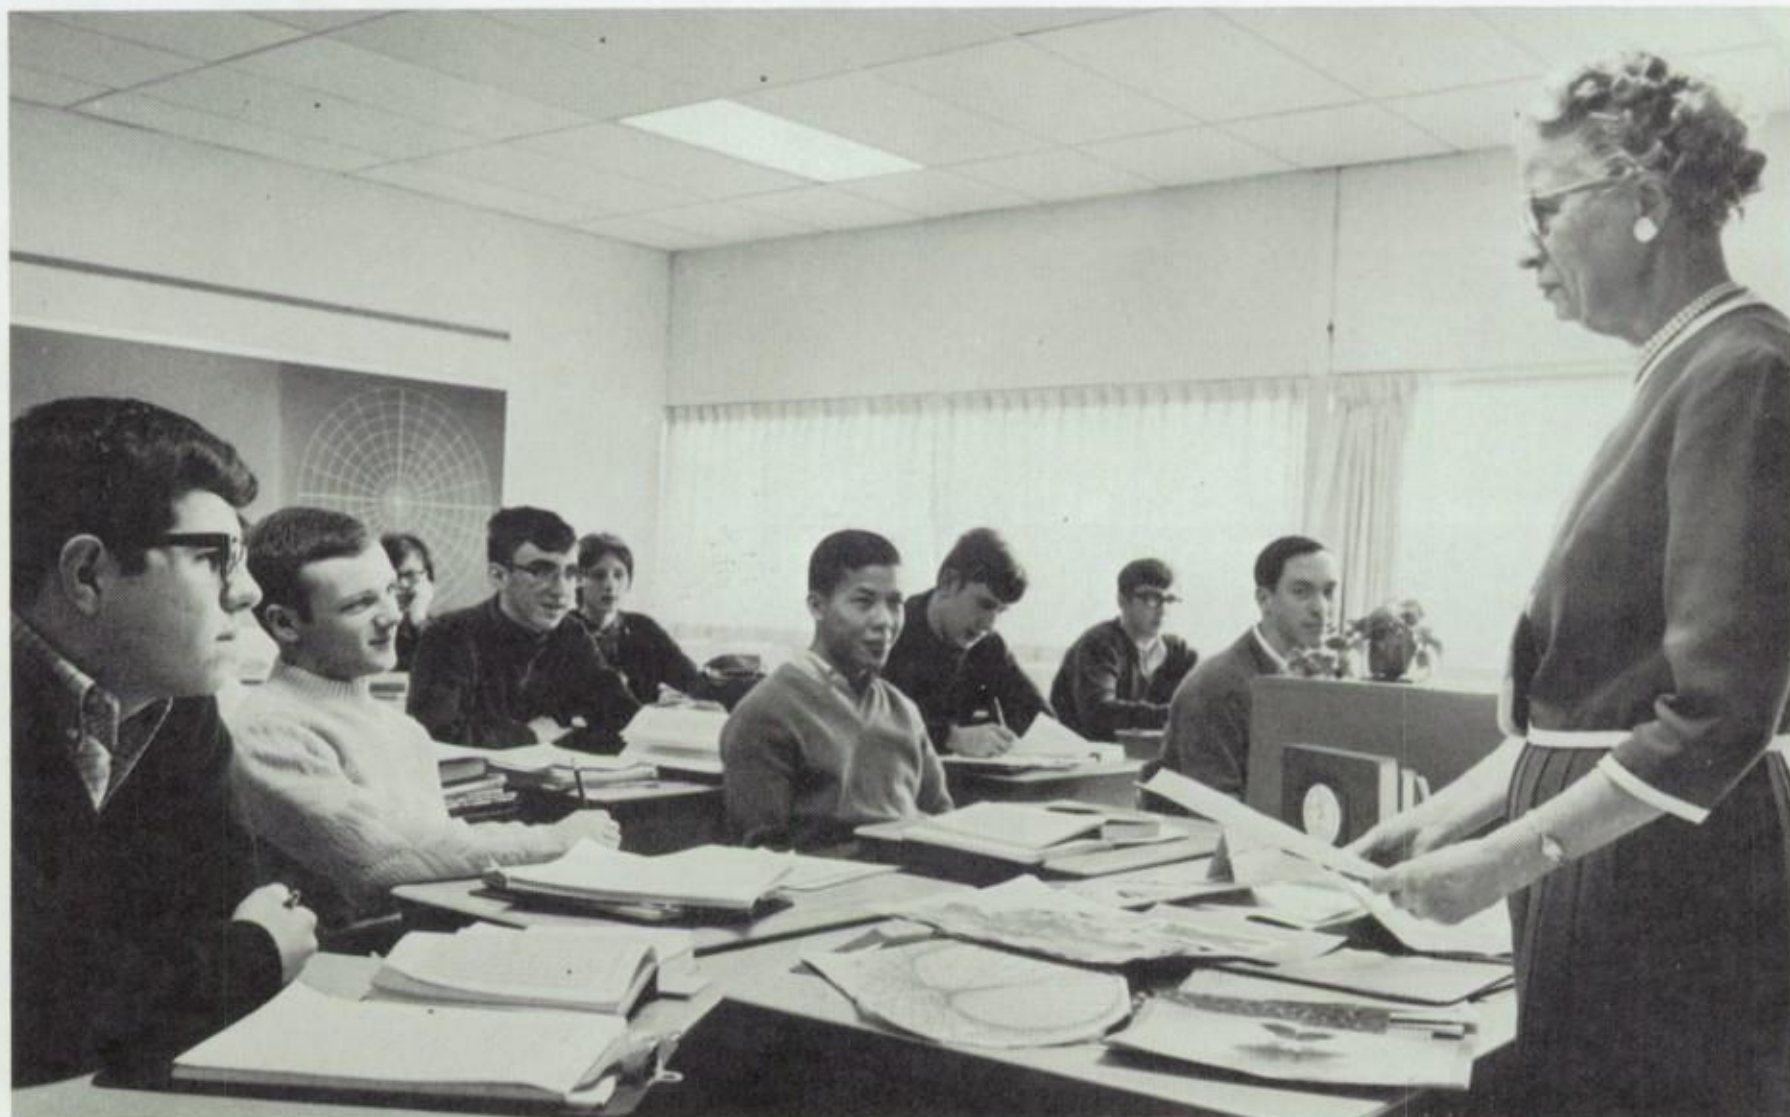

Mr. Houck explains factoring and cross-canceling to help John Fisher understand the multiplication of fractions.

With these solid geometric models, Bill Heffner and Bonnie Lockwood study areas in Mr. Miller's Math 10 MSG class.

Miss Johnson's intermediate algebra class takes a break from their daily recitation to look at some extra credit projects done by students in past years. Pupils may obtain bonus points for showing special interest in the subject.

Linda Devendorf heats a test tube and uses moist litmus paper to examine a solution for ammonia in biology lab.

After heating his copper-sulfite crystals, Tom Parker masses them in a crucible on a triple beam balance in chemistry lab.

An ardent baseball follower, Mr. Belden attends a home game.

Sports enthusiasts can always get good food and drink whether it be indoors at the student council refreshment stand, below, or outdoors in the tent managed by the Sixth Ward Booster Club.

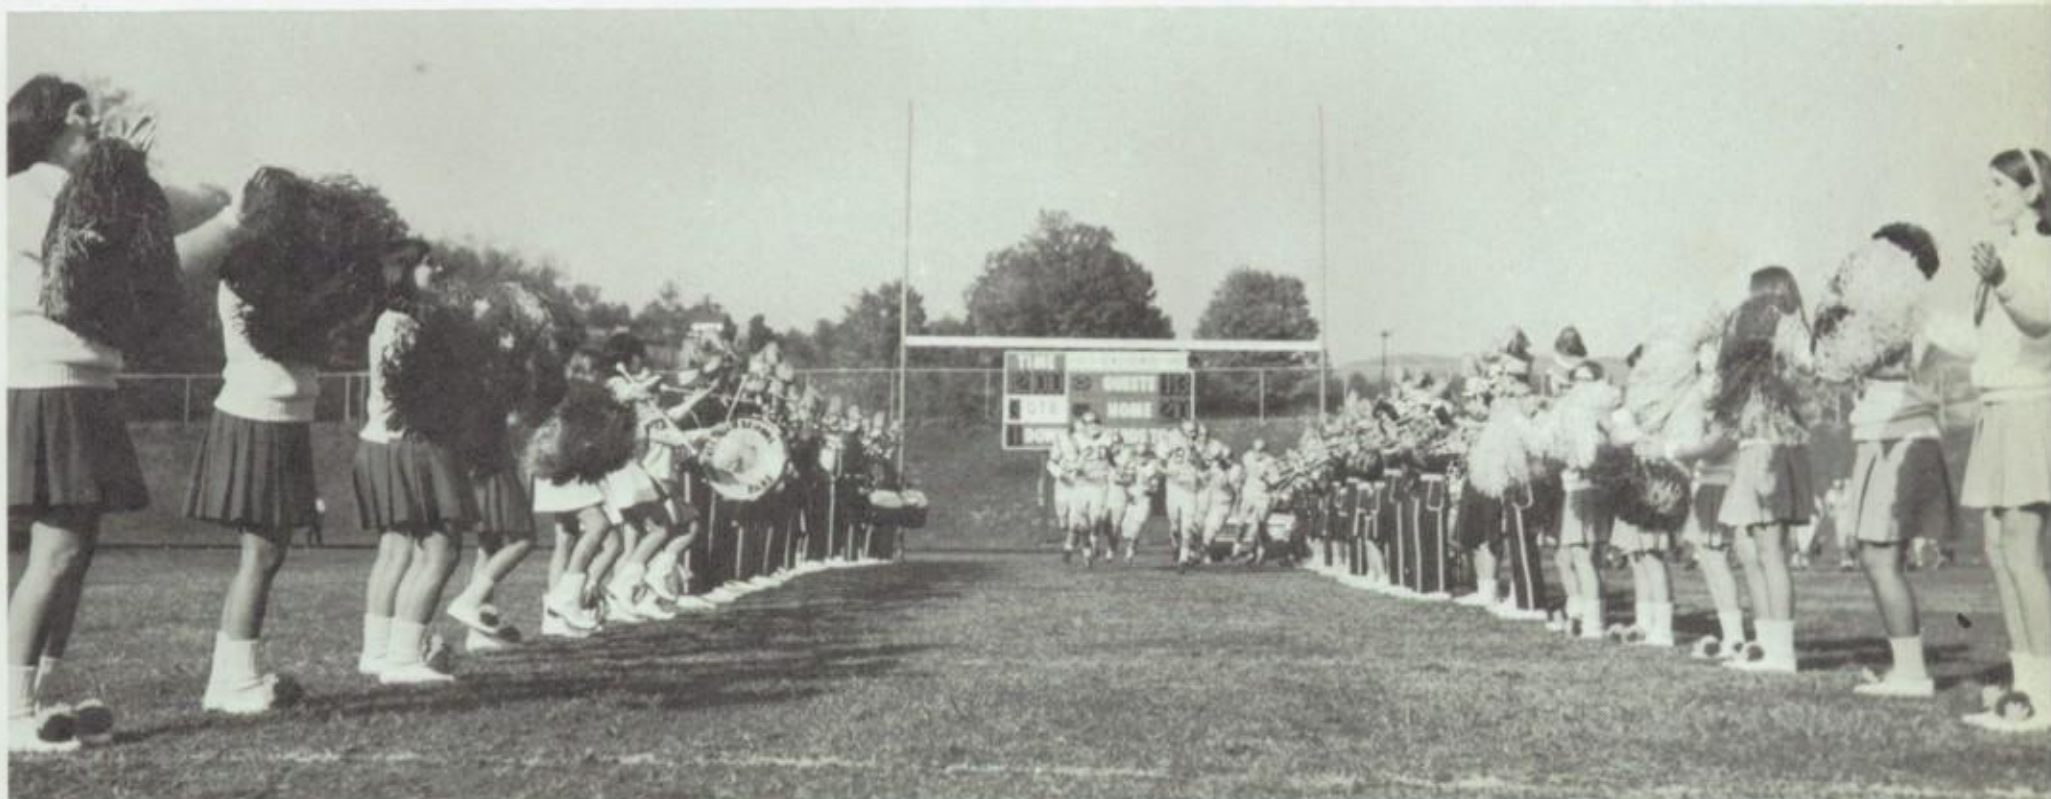

Shouts of jubilation arise from basketball fans as the JVs sink a crucial basket to tie up the score.

Cheers, cooperative effort spur Jacket success

"Our team comes marching in" to cheers of encouragement from cheerleaders, majorettes, and the band as the halftime ends.

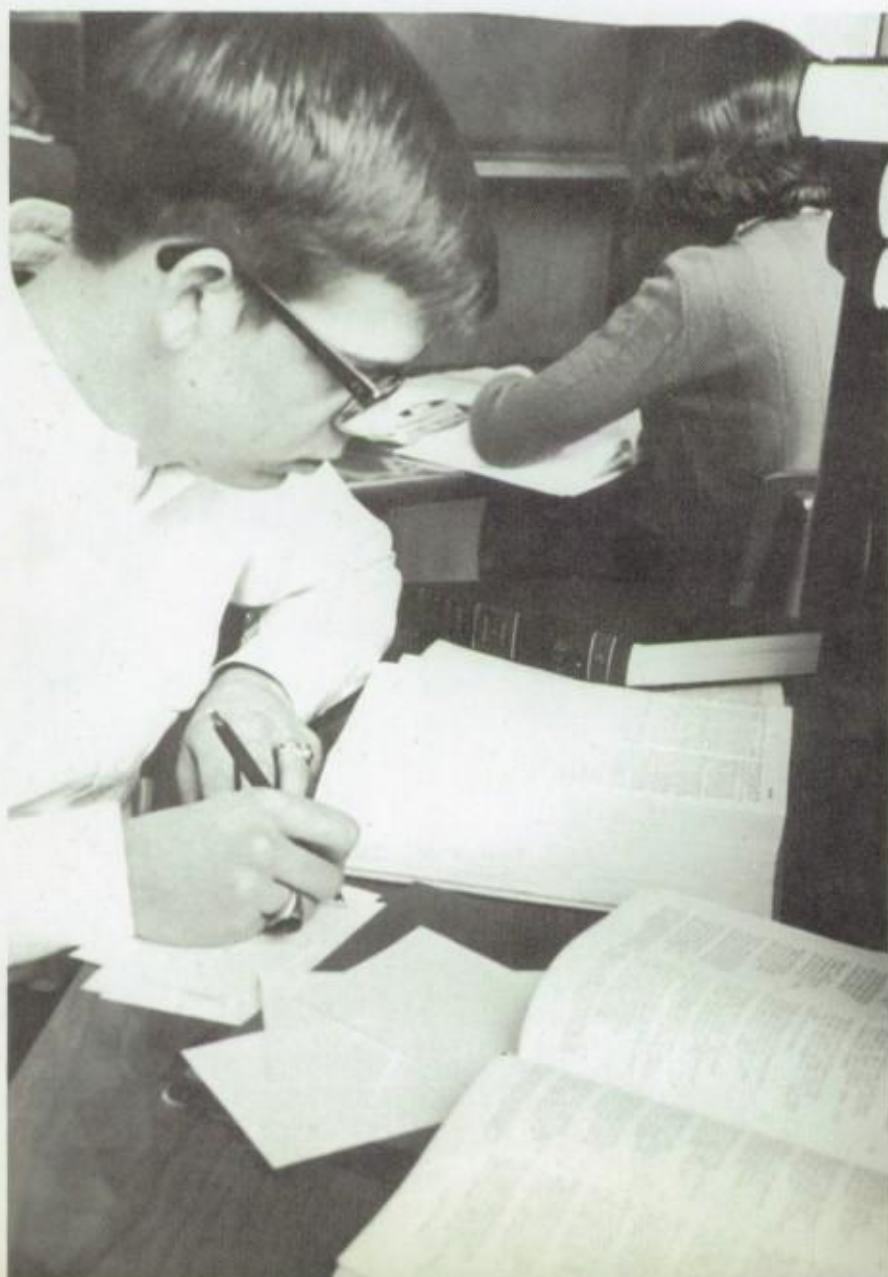

After school, students scatter quickly. Some head for buses and home, as shown here, while others stay to participate in many varied activities, some of which are shown on these pages.

Students meet, work, practice after school

In the late fall, seniors flock to the library to work on the time-consuming term paper. Here, Dave Coons takes notes on the failure of the democratic provisional government of Russia.

In the early spring, Dramatics Club members become stage crew and spend their after-school time and Saturday afternoons sprucing up the sets for "Kiss Me, Kate."

After school, clubs meet daily to discuss fund-raising projects and social activities. Herr Schaefer talks with the newly-formed German club about plans for a winter picnic, held in March.

Because of team practice in the gym, Mr. Sparaco's judo class meets in the hall. Lessons climaxed when they went to Utica to try for their yellow belts.

Students put after-school hours to use in the labs. Amy Foell and Kitty Signor work on the chemistry exercise "Percentage of water in a Hydrate."

Steve Joseph, Barb Putnam, and Sally Seybolt model the latest styles. Steve, following the trend of long hair, is clad in bell-bottom jeans and a scarf. Barb wears a dirndl skirt and Sally is dressed in a vest and culotte outfit.

Following the ruling forbidding boys to wear bare feet in sandals in school, these students don brightly colored and striped socks to start a trend.

Chatting around the lunch table, these girls show the current styles of tied-back hair and pierced earrings. Every girl, with hair long enough, puts ribbons, scarves, and barrettes to attractive use while accentuating her ears.

Sporting a sweater vest and popular bologna curls, Pat Robson points out the latest in fashions as Margaret Shedlock looks on in her high-necked ruffled blouse.

Girls' styles feminine with long hair, ruffles

In spite of the new clunky shoes designed for comfort, girls continue their old habit of kicking them off during class.

Because of the revival of long fur coats, Beth Whittemore stands prepared to be fashionably warm.

During a visit to the refreshment stand at a football game, Benny Kitonyi from Kenya and Kayoka Tomito from Japan eat their first hotdogs, American style.

Foreign students learn to eat jack-wax, a candy made from maple syrup. They are Gloria Valenzuela, Benny Kitonyi, Cherrie Wong, Patty and Chichi Monge, Dee Wickham, and Steve Ng.

Foreign students learn American way of life

OHSan staffers and foreign exchange students enjoy a wintry Sunday afternoon around a blazing fire. They are Sue Dana, Gloria Valenzuela, Ecuador, Patty and Chichi Monge, Peru, Diane Wickham, Paula Lampman, Sue and Tom Seybolt, Steve Ng, Hong Kong, Benny Kitonyi, Kenya, Liz Huyer, Cherrie Wong, Hong Kong, and Charlie, the Seybolts' St. Bernard.

Preparing for the snowy winter weather, Patty Monge tries on tall boots in Bresee's as her older sister Chichi advises. The salesman later gave Patty these boots and each of the girls a shoe bag.

Wearing her kimono, Kayoka Tomita, performs a Japanese fan dance during the Brotherhood Week.

Marita Ruiter, from Austria, puts the finishing touches on a Christmas art project later displayed in the hall.

Prior to his re-election to a sixth term in the House of Representatives, Congressman Samuel S. Stratton speaks on current issues to an attentive audience.

The bulletin board full of posters illustrates student interest in elections.

Seniors were active in class elections held in the fall. Gary Borden, treasurer, adds one of his posters to the imaginative signs already on the crowded board.

"Very interesting," sneers Don Wood on Grub Day as he imitates Laugh-In's Arte Johnson.

On Hat Day, Barb Duffy models her own creation, Davis Conley wears one that he equipped with flashing light and radio, and Jeff House sports a German army helmet.

Elections, senior week break class routine

As Dress-up Day brings Senior Distinction Week to a close, Deb Emerick, attired in a dirndl skirt and frilly white blouse, browses through a pamphlet.

Chris Oliver and Kathie Hall, members of the 100th class, model Centennial Day costumes circa 1869.

On Tag Day, Mary Magellan collects the contribution of an Oneonta citizen. Students stationed throughout the city solicited money to send exchange students to Latin America.

SC aids Latin American summer exchange program

From planning the traditional fall get-acquainted dance, sponsoring a Korean orphan, to familiarizing students with city government, the Student Council's varied activities demonstrate the diversified purposes of the students' representative body.

On Tag Day, seniors, juniors, and sophomores solicited contributions for the foreign exchange program, which sends students to Latin America during the summer months.

In December, a fund drive raised $90.43 for the support of the student body's orphan.

Collecting clothing for the Save the Children Federation was another project which gave OHSans an opportunity to show their generosity and compassion. This organization sent clothes to needy families in backward regions of the United States.

Under the direction of the Student Council, city officials relinquished their jobs to OHS students for one day in a project designed to encourage awareness of the city governmental activities.

NHS grants prizes; KC provides programs

In the fall, the National Honor Society inducted twenty-six seniors possessing the characteristics of leadership, scholarship, service, and character.

As an honor group, NHS awarded prizes to the top student in each of two departments, and contributed to scholarship funds.

As a social organization, NHS held a Christmas tea for teachers and graduates, and in June, a picnic for all members.

During Christmas vacation, the Kiwanis-affiliated Key Club sponsored a get-together in the library for seniors and former OHSans. The graduates, representing about fifteen colleges, explained aspects of college life usually unknown to students until they reach the campus.

As always, the club members provided programs for basketball and wrestling, and kept the information on the roster board in the gym up to date.

Varsity 'O' grants awards; PC masters cheers

Varsity 'O' Club terminated a year of activities with a spring banquet, at which they presented a gift to the athletic department, and awards for "Athlete of the Year" and "Patron of Athletics." To raise funds for this banquet, the club sponsored the Harlem Astronauts, sold programs, and operated the concession stand.

Members of the club went to elementary schools and gave talks on training regulations.

To create school spirit, Pep Club members set aside meetings to learn cheers from the cheerleaders.

They supported the basketball and football teams by sending busses on three occasions to Norwich and Mohawk. To raise money, they held a car wash and a bake sale during the Vestal football scrimmage. In January, they sold booster badges urging "Go Jackets, Sting 'Em."

GLC honors girl athletes with All Sports Banquet

Girls' Leaders climaxed the year by sponsoring an all-sports banquet for girls who participated in intramurals. At this banquet, participants received their appropriate awards, including trophies, numerals, letters, blue chevrons, and gold bars. The latter four are acquired respectively according to points obtained by attendance at intramurals.

At the GLC Victory Dance, decorated in Peanuts theme, the club presented Coach Pushkar with a scrapbook of newspaper football clippings.

To raise funds, GLC held a bake sale February 8 during the girls' Basketball Tournament, at which they sold homemade brownies, cookies and cupcakes, and furnished the nine visiting teams with milk.

At Easter, the girls provided a dinner for a needy family. In the spring they served as waitresses at the Varsity 'O' Banquet. The club sponsored a bus to the Ilion football game in the fall.

This year the club presented Miss LeClair, adviser, a blue GLC vest, similar to the vests which the members wear each Friday.

Barb Shearer, among her other duties as locker room aid, busily stacks towels during her free period. Other GLC members assisted, earning intramural points.

SKI CLUB—Front row: B. Shearer, D. Slocum, P. Robson, D. Colombo, G. Pizza, president, B. Duffy, secretary-treasurer, D. Haynes, J. Ritchko, J. Hoffman. Second row: E. Waugh, K. Hall, D. Margaret Shedlock and Sally George enjoy some of the season's best skiing weather as they start down the slope. The club later traveled to the well-known resort, Gore Mountain.

Ski Club members visit Adirondack winter resort

As skiing has grown in popularity over the last few years, the ski club has grown in size. It now has a membership of more than 125 sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

In the late fall, club members sponsored a dance to finance a trip to a ski resort in northern New York. The Ski Bee patches provided another source of income for the Club. With the purchase of a patch, skiers become eligible for a deduction in Scotch Valley's season pass.

The Ski Club felt the financial pinch. Last year, the school supplied buses to take the students to Scotch Valley, a popular ski center in Stamford, but this year each member had to furnish his own transportation.

An unwelcome and lengthy thaw in early January dampened the members' spirits, for a trip that had been planned to Stratton in Vermont was cancelled because of the bad conditions.

A positive prediction on Ground Hog Day was followed by near blizzard conditions which renewed skiers' hopes of a snowy week-end. A bus load of Ski Bees took off February 15 for a day of skiing at Gore Mountain in the Adirondacks.

FTA, FMCC study teaching, medical careers

FTA carried out programs designed to help members understand the many facets of a teaching career. They acted as aids, helping teachers with everything from bulletin boards to correcting papers.

Students learned about the pupil-teacher relationship in the lower grades as they observed classes in city elementary schools.

As a service project, FTA held three bake sales during midterms and donated the profits to the Signorino Scholarship Fund.

In helping the Cancer Foundation alert the public, and in giving a Christmas party for mentally retarded children, the Future Medical Careers Club showed its dedication to the community.

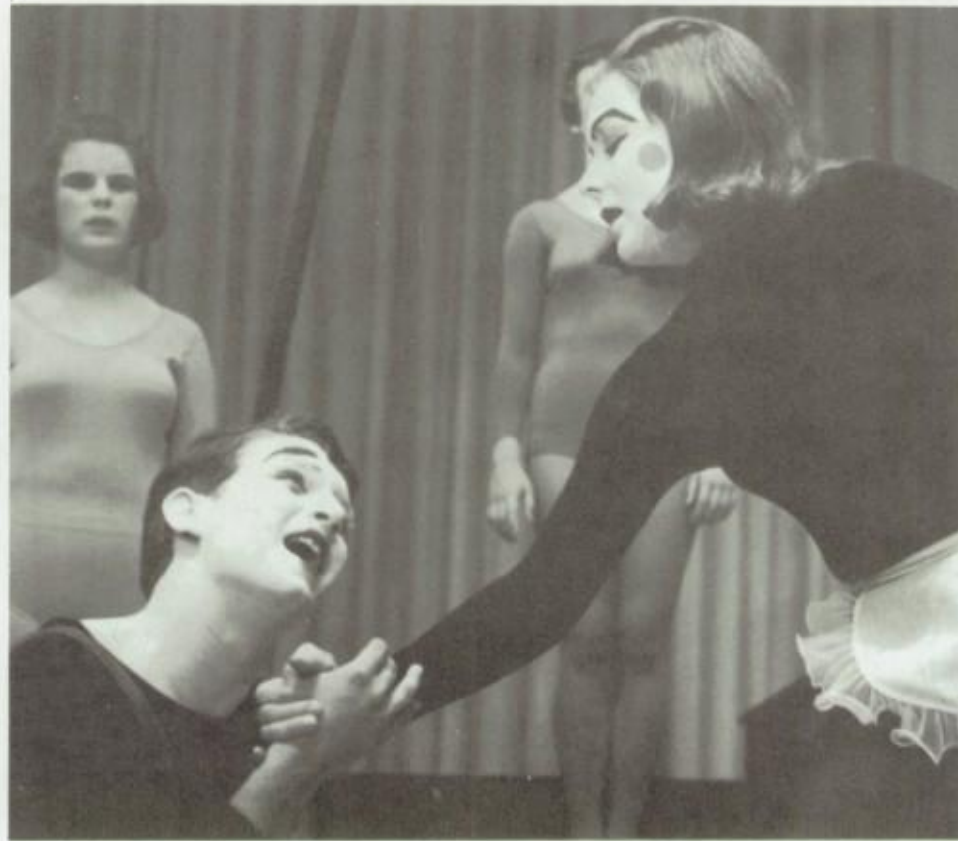

Guest speakers and films on such subjects as "Careers in Health" acquainted members with opportunities in the field of medicine.

Money-raising projects, including a dance, and a tea for junior high students, interested in joining the club, completed the year's activities.

FUTURE MEDICAL CAREERS CLUB—Front row: R. Hughes, vice-president, P. Agnew, treasurer, S. Conigliaro, president, J. Wilcox, secretary, K. Bresee. Second row: Miss Winifred Marcle, adviser, D.

The "family" represented in "Stop the World, I Want to Get Off" are (front row) Joan Martin as daughter Jane; Shaun Mullins as the son and grandson; Patricia Robson as daughter Susan; (back row) Kristin Rose as the wife, Evie; and Stephen Sweet as the husband, Littlechap.

Little chap is born, grows up, graduates from school, and finds he has no money. He looks for a job and is hired in a factory as a "tea boy". He finds life one fling after another until his encounter with boss' daughter, Evie, (represented at left by the hand mime) "lumbers" him into fatherhood, marriage, and a series of affairs. His least successful attempt in his "extra-curricular" life is with Ilse, the German domestic help hired by his wife. In the above picture Ilse has matters well in hand.

When sent to Sludgepool to manage his father-in-law's factory, Littlechap finds the plant in a shambles. He refuses to admit defeat and decides he is "Gonna Build A Mountain, from a little hill" and does just that, making the Sludgepool factory a success and winning a promotion for himself.

Thespians visit NYC, Present 'Stop the World'

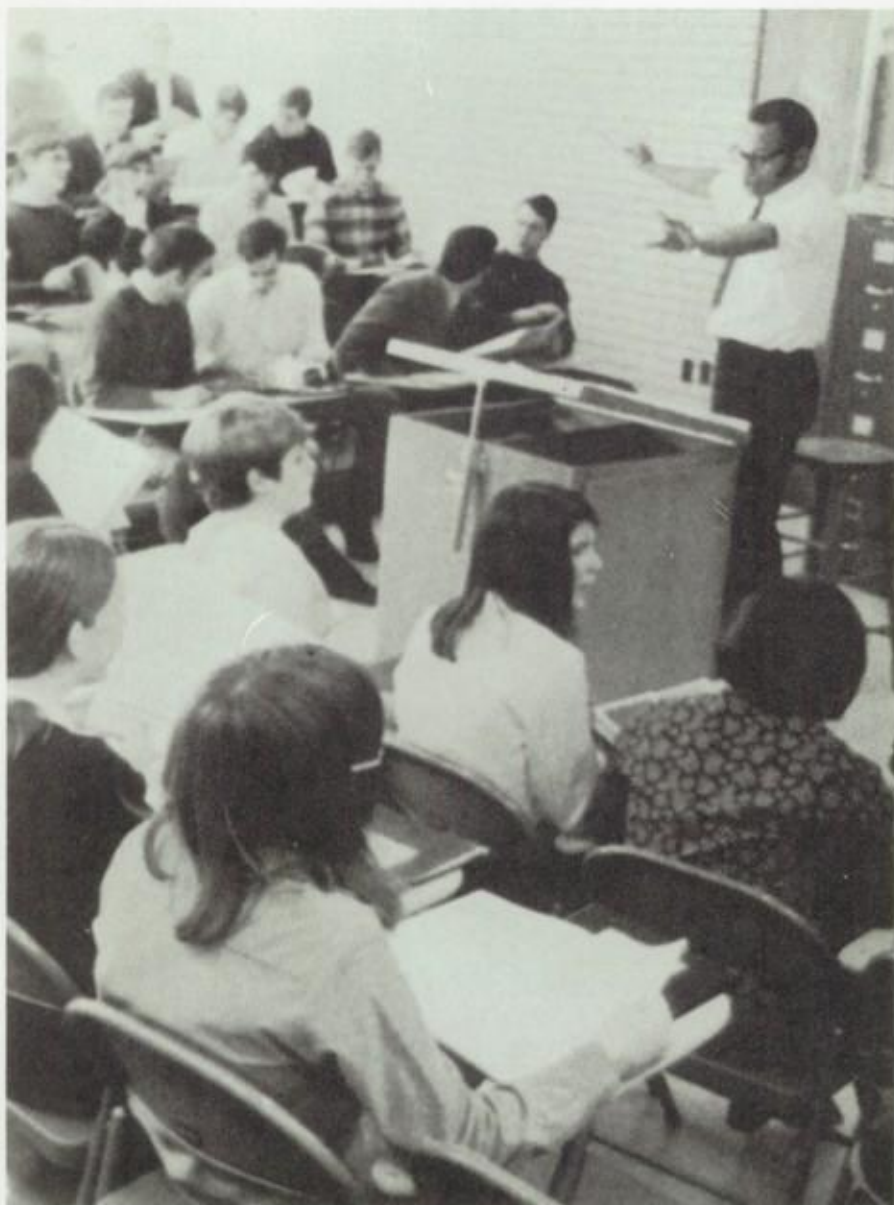

In addition to its fall production, "Stop the World," the Dramatics Club contributed to the choir's presentation of Kiss Me Kate by working the technical aspects.

They also presented the play, The Odd Couple, in which students and teachers reversed positions. While the members made up the stage crew and took on directing responsibilities, Mr. John Chamard and Mr. Robert Squires portrayed the leads.

An important part of the Dramatics Club is the National Thespian Society. To become a Thespian and be eligible for the trip to New York to see Broadway plays, one must earn ten points by participating in the varied aspects of play production. The induction of new members and the presentation of awards occurred at the final theatrical event of the year, the Thespian banquet.

Here, at one of life's toughest moments, Littlechap shouts, "Stop the World!" before coming down stage to philosophize with the audience.

As a warm-up exercise, Mr. Douglas Jones conducts the varsity choir in a rousing chorus of "Happy Birthday," honoring several people, including Mr. Charles Tipple, the photographer.

Choir sings 'The Messiah,' sends vocalists to Buffalo

Priscilla Truman as Kate and Steve Sweet as Petruchio led the cast of the spring musical, "Kiss Me, Kate." Kris Rose and Dave Scott played Bianca and Lucentio, the other two major characters. Produced with technical assistance from the Dramatics Club, the choir production involved the division of the choir into three choruses to provide parts for all choir members.

The Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah," presented December 17, required nine soloists, whose voices were broadcast over WDOS during the holiday season. A lighter program, performed at Bresee's, Kiwanis, and Rotary, consisted of hymns and carols.

Eighteen choir members attended Area All-State in Oxford, and sixteen the Otsego County Music Festival. Kris Rose and Steve Sweet made the All-State Choir, which performed in Buffalo. In April, the choir began rehearsing for the annual competition sponsored by the New York State School Music Association. Musical groups are judged on interpretation, diction, effect, quality, and intonation.

For the sixteenth year in a row, the choir has received an "A" rating in grade six music, the most difficult division.

Spectators stand for the alma mater as the band forms an "O" on the field. Under the leadership of drum majorette, Cindy Warnken, members performed numerous entertaining routines at nearly every home game and at Norwich.

Band boosts school spirit, performs in May concert

Under their new director, Mr. Richard Schuyler, the band members performed a number of programs. In the fall, they contributed to the enthusiasm of the football games by playing during half-time. Together with the color guard and majorettes, the members learned marching routines which they assembled into shows.

Each show had a different theme. One show, for example, dealt with the popular songs of television commercials such as the "Teaberry Shuffle" and "Up, Up and Away". The formation of the letter "O" and the playing of the Alma Mater ended every show. Through the generosity of the crowd at a home game, the members collected enough money to attend the game at Norwich.

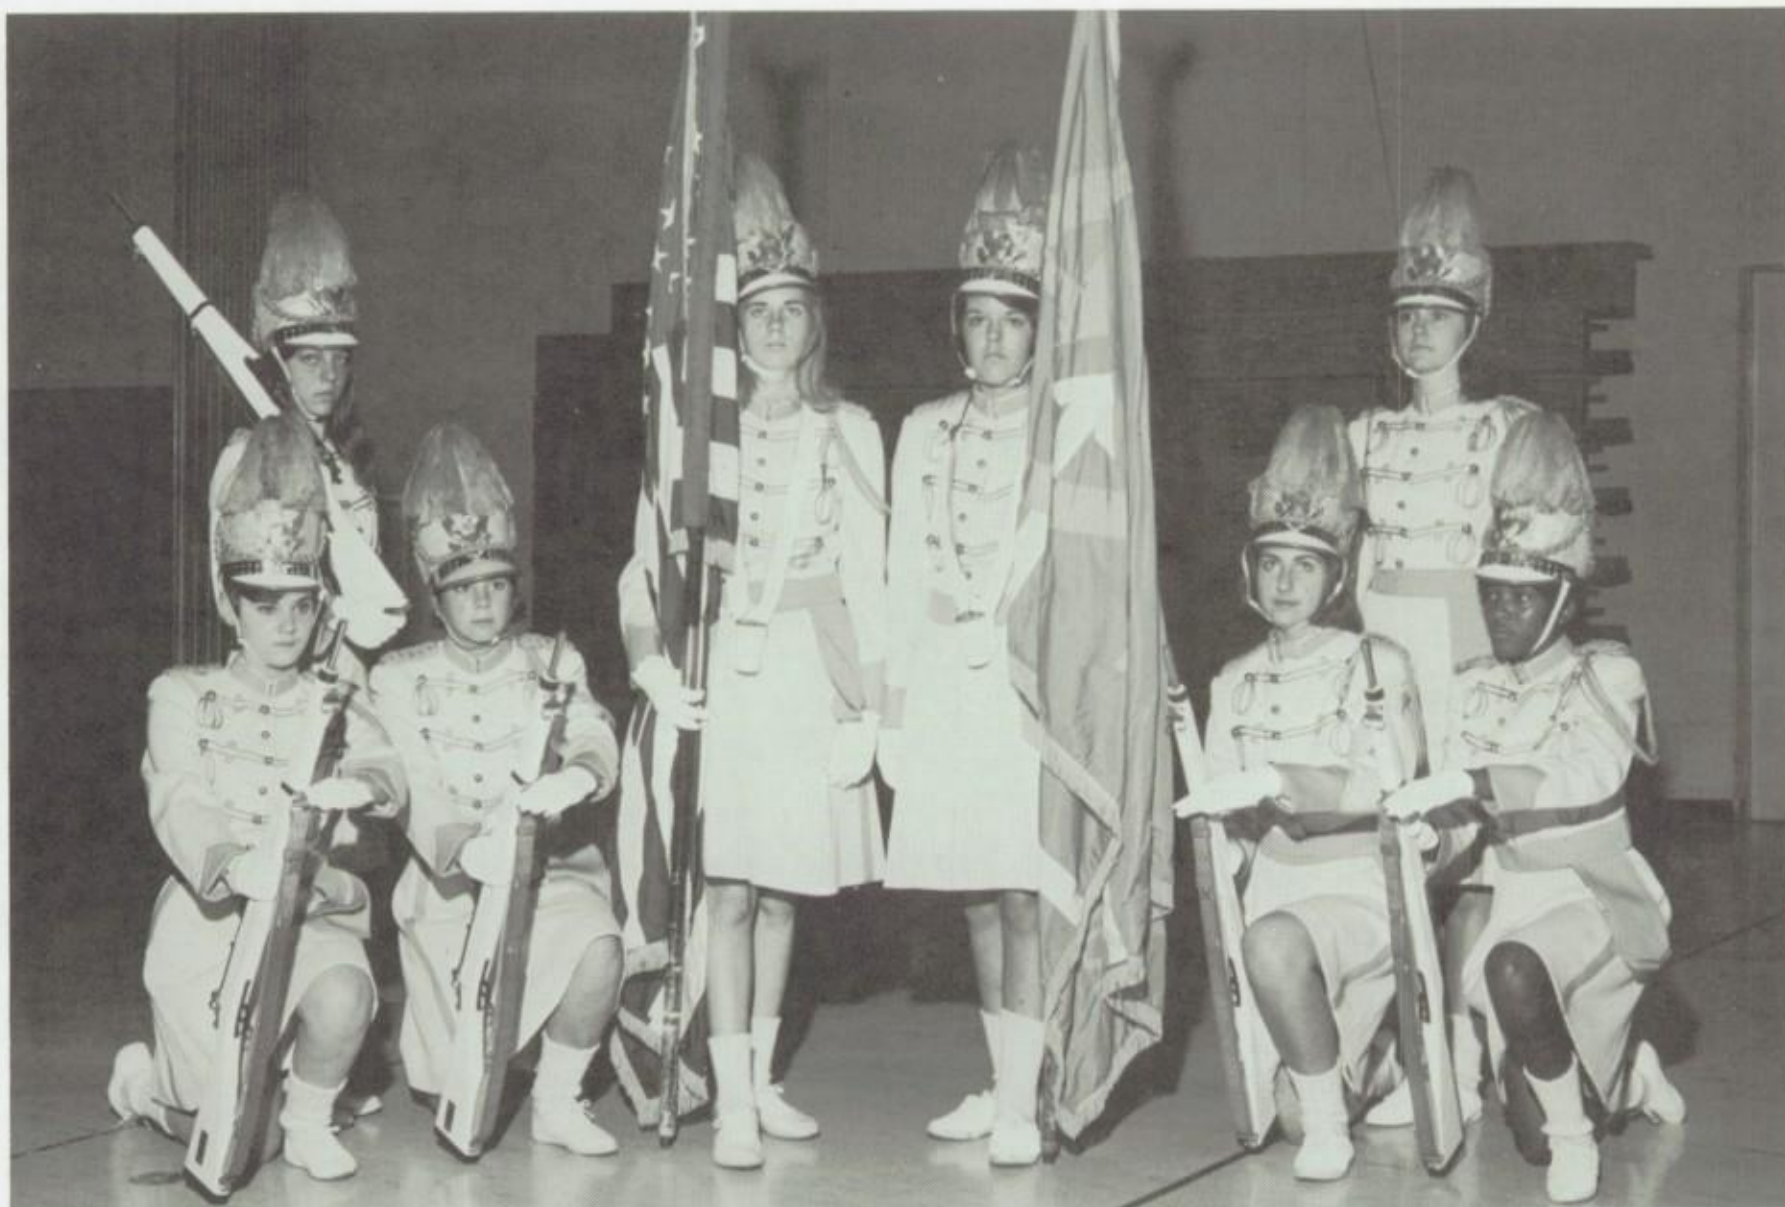

The band contributed to the school Christmas Concert by playing "Silent Night" and an arrangement of the popular holiday song, "Jingle Bells".

The pep band, formed this year, is composed of band members who played at games and rallies.

SOC institutes changes; Library Club assists

The purpose of the Science Club has expanded to encompass field trips and nature study. Outings such as a hike on Slide Mountain and a practice campout prepared members for the climactic late spring overnight at Mount Marcy. Scientific aspects of the club's program include a trip to Brookhaven Atomic Research Center and the lab assistant program.

Students who contribute at least one study hall each week, checking in new mail, stamping library cards and returning books to the shelves, constitute the membership of the Library Club. A Book Week tea for the faculty members and the annual club dinner highlighted the year. Members conducted a candy sale to earn money for a gift to the library.

Echo airs students' views on draft, 18-year-old vote

In an effort to include more controversial topics, The Echo reported on political and educational developments. The presidential election provided a basis for discussion with local politically-oriented individuals and organizations, including the Students for a Democratic Society. Reporters also explored today's vital questions of the draft and the 18-year-old vote.

Early in the year, the staff covered the budget problem of the Oneonta school system. Editor Jill Elfenbein interviewed through correspondence high school students in New York City who were affected by the teachers' strike.

During July, three editors attended the School Press Institute at Syracuse University. While obtaining experience publishing daily and weekly newspapers, they took courses in photography, advertising, business, feature writing, and editorial writing.

OHSan staff captures year's events in words, pictures

"Blood, sweat, and tears" went into the 1969 OHSan before its completion in March. Staff members worked after school, evenings, and seemingly endless Saturdays to meet their three deadlines.

Planning began in the summer as Sue Dana attended workshops at the School Press Institute held at Syracuse University. Mr. Charles Tipple took the senior pictures before the beginning of the school year to get a head start on the book.

The school colors of blue and gold were chosen for the cover. The editors struggled to make artistic layouts and OHSans attempted to write captions, copy, and headlines to perfectly fit the allotted spaces.

The staff's reward finally came when the yearbook was concluded and ready for distribution. The fulfillment of a book summing up a year's events made all the hours of drudgery worthwhile.

Karl Sutter, business manager, goes over his advertising layouts with Paula Lampman, editor-in-chief, before printing.

Gridders Stage Comeback, Finish First In League

The Yellowjacket football team got off to what looked like an extremely shaky start, losing two of their first three games. However, when all hope for a great season seemed lost, the Jacket Gridders came to life convincingly, outscoring the opposition by a margin of more than 3:1 with 142:41 points in their last five games. This outstanding effort achieved the unbelievable. It captured for the Yellowjackets the Iroquois League Championship with a 6-1 league mark.

This winning performance also secured for Oneonta a sound lead of 45 points over the closest contender for the All-Sports Trophy.

Jayvees Play Only Four Hit Tough Opposition

The Junior Varsity football team encountered tough luck as well as several outstanding opponents. The unfortunately tight budget situation prevented the Junior Jackets from participating in any away matches except the contest with VVS. They played only four games, three of which were extremely closely contested.

The team was also handicapped severely by the loss of several players to the varsity, which further reduced the depth of the already meager JV line-up.

Harriers Gain Experience, Finish With 1-4 Record

The relatively young and inexperienced cross-country team got a lot of experience this year and is looking forward to a great season next year. The harriers finished the year with a 1-4 record.

The highlight of the season was a 20-35 victory over Frankfort-Schuyler. It should be mentioned, that in cross-country, the team with the lowest score wins the match.

The Yellowjacket harriers also participated in the Iroquois League Meet at Ilion.

Booters Sock It To 'Em, Defeat League Champs

The Yellowjacket booters climaxed their first year of participation in the Northern Delaware Soccer League successfully by finishing in second place. They recorded a 5-2-1 league record despite some extremely questionable calls by the referees.

The season was highlighted by a 3:2 victory over eventual league champion Jefferson. In this game, the Jackets had edged out a 2:1 lead at halftime. However, the Jefferson Wolverines scored the equalizer with five minutes remaining. It looked as if the game would end in a tie or a Jefferson victory, when the Yellowjackets scored the winning goal on a breakaway with 56 seconds remaining in the game.

The JV basketball team finished its 1968-69 season with an impressive 9-6 record. The most exciting game has to be the first encounter with Norwich.

Although the baby Yellowjackets dropped the game, they managed to come from behind in regulation time to send the game into a thrilling double overtime. The Jayvees revenged this loss in their second game with Norwich by a 33:24 victory.

During the season, the junior Jackets were led in scoring by Dave Molinari, Jim Puylara, and Pete Pondolfino, all of whom scored more than 100 points.

The Yellowjacket baseball squad finished the season one half game out of first place in the Iroquois League standings with an overall record of 12-7-1.

The Jackets' success was due to the timely combination of superb pitching, strong hitting, and slick fielding. All of these phases of the game were exhibited in the 10-0 victory over Cooperstown, in which John LeSuer picked up a 1-hitter.

Golf Team Is Successful, Captures Valuable Points

The golf team finished the season with a mark of 5-4-1 and placed 4th in the league tournament. The squad was led by Bruce Dailey and John Knapp, who shot in the seventies several times during competition.

Last year was the first time that golf points were counted towards the All-Sports Trophy. The golfers earned 10 points at the League Tournament.

Bruce Dailey takes a pitch shot to the green during the last home match of the season against Sidney. Oneonta won 11-4.

Mark Solano, captain of the Grambling volleyball team, spikes the ball, as two opponents attempt to block him.

Chris Oliver leaps high into the air, as he is about to grab the defensive rebound away from Rich Kniskern.

Roger Conte hands off to Mike Mould on the third leg of the 440 yard relay event at the interclass trackmeet. Although the class of '69 leads at this stage, the relay was won by the class of '68, which won the meet 42.5:42.

Wrestling Meet Enlivens Boys' Intramural Roster

The boys' intramural program included for the first time this year an interclass wrestling meet, as well as flag football, basketball, volleyball, bowling, and the interclass trackmeet. Between 90 and 95 individuals participated in the program.

Plagued by cold rainy weather, the football season had to be postponed until spring. Mark Banta's Bullets won the basketball round robin, as Phil Brienza's Harvard swept the bowling competition. The other contests were undecided at press time.

Don "Herr Holz" Wood follows through after delivering a strike in competition against the champs of Harvard.

Jack Wilson is fouled as he and Everett Mattison scramble for the rebound of a shot taken by Kniskern from 25 feet.

Christy Roberts looks on, as Judy Chase recovers the ball during basketball action, in which 75 girls participated.

Kathy Sparaco intercepts a pass from Janet Decker, as she stops a dangerous drive in soccer competition.

Christiane Jaeck performs a split headstand, as Toni Peebles practices her routine on the balance beam.

Girls' Intramurals Attract More Than 200 Players

Girls' intramurals consisted of ten different activities throughout the year, including five team sports and five individual sports. Among the team sports were soccer, softball, basketball, volleyball, and field hockey. The individual sports included bowling, gymnastics, tennis, archery, as well as track.

Well over 200 individual girls participated in the program, which determined interclass champions in basketball and volleyball. Peggy Hughes' junior volleyball team won its title, as the basketball race wound up in a tie between Pat Hagan's senior class team and Nancy Vroman's junior class squad. The intramural program included the annual boys' and girls' gymnastics exhibition.

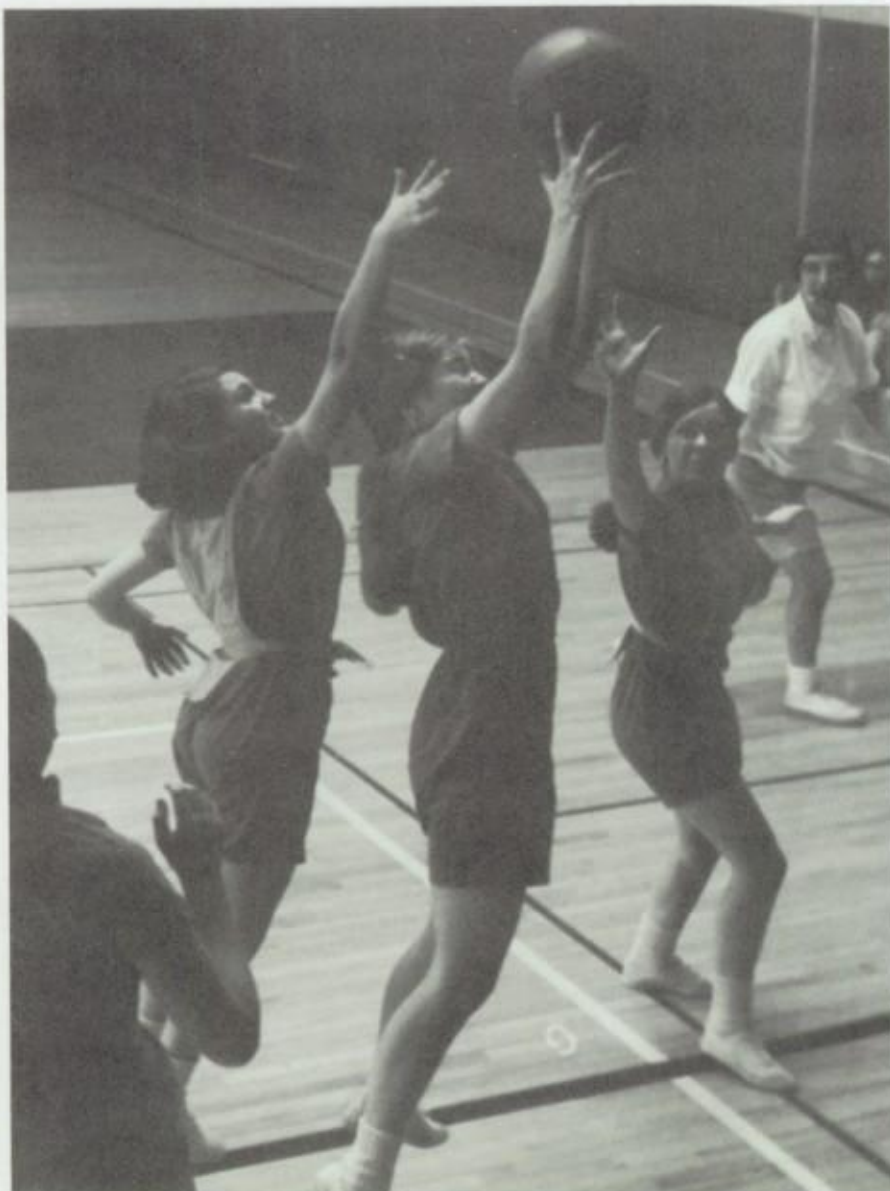

Paula Lampman evades the foul line, as she rolls her way to a 165, a season's high.

Toni Peebles executes a perfect split on her specialty, the balance beam, on which she also performed during the boys' and girls' gymnastics exhibition.

Ellen Gordon matches Vicki Fawcett's efforts in a rebounding duel, as the senior class beat the sophomore class.

Sue Seybolt, member of the second place bowling team, follows through, as the ball appears in perfect position.

Cheerleaders Rouse Spirit; Majorettes Devise Routines

Cheerleaders' voices echoed through the gym doors as the girls practiced cheers for their next game. At the other end of the building the majorettes created routines in the halls to the strains of the "Teaberry Shuffle."

At pep rallies cheerleaders introduced new cheers and used the pep house, which they built and painted themselves. They participated in an area clinic at Union Endicott, where they learned some do's and don'ts of cheering.

The majorettes performed lively routines at the football and basketball half time shows. In the spring they worked at various projects to raise enough money to send two majorettes to a summer baton camp at Delhi.

JUNIOR VARSITY MAJORETTES—Crystal Roketa, Nancy Smith, Rhonda Hodges.

KNOWN FOR VALUES

ONEONTA SHOPPING PLAZA

There's a bit of the beast in every bug.

It doesn't take much to unleash the savage fury of a Volkswagen.

Take almost any old VW, replace the body, make a few simple adjustments, and you've got a Formula Vee racer.

How can a mild-mannered, practical, everyday Volkswagen convert so easily into something so delightfully impractical?

In the words of the Formula Vee International Manual: "Volkswagen components seem to have been made expressly for use in a racing car."

"The engine, air-cooled and mostly aluminum, is light for its power output and already adapted to the rear-engine concept of modern racing cars."

"Its rugged construction provides a power plant which seems to be practically indestructible, even at racing speeds."

"Operating costs are amazingly low. One set of tires will ordinarily last more than a season and one oil change a year is sufficient."

It seems that the same things that make the VW a sensible car for people who aren't in any particular hurry to get somewhere also make the Formula Vee a sensible car for people who are in a big hurry to get nowhere.
